Katchoo is a beautiful young woman living a quiet life with everything going for her. She's smart, independent and very much in love with her best friend, Francine Peters. Then Katchoo meets David, a gentle but persistent young man who seems determined to win her heart. The resulting love triangle is a touching comedy of romantic errors until Katchoo's ex-girlfriend comes looking for her and $850,000 in missing mob money. As her idyllic life begins to unravel, Katchoo discovers no one can be trusted. The past she thought she left behind now threatens to destroy her and everything she loves, including Francine.

Once upon a time, there was a cemetery gardener who fell in love with a professional grave mourner, with a look of a ghost. Once upon a time, there was an Art student who asked a young man to pose for her on New Year's Eve. Once upon a time, there were agents from the future sent to our present, to a small seaside town, to fix a temporal cat related paradox. They found themselves enjoying Italian ice cream while watching sunsets and no longer wanted to return to their dimension. And they ended up... who knows where. All beautiful things must come to an end, but if we must choose, let it be beautiful. In HAPPY ENDINGS, the new hit graphic novel from LUCIE BRYON (Thieves), all stories are intwined. And they all end up with a smile.

During the Golden Age of comics, publishers offered titles supporting the war effort ‚Äî presenting fighting men and their feminine counterparts ‚Äî babes in arms! Comic books during this period featured US service-women fighting all of the axis bad guys and gave several of the most noteworthy women artists of the era opportunities to create action-packed, adventure-filled, four-color stories. Now for the first time renowned pop-culture historian Trina Robbins assembles comic book stories by artists Barbara Hall, Jill Elgin, Lilly Renee, and Fran Hopper together with insightful commentary and loads of documentary extras to create the definitive book chronicling the work of these important Golden Age artists. This magnificent art book offers page-after-page of good girl action!

Steve Ditko

Steve Ditko was the last of a sturdy generation of American comic book artists who produced iconic, modern day mythology and was among the most influential and original creators of the 20th Century. A prime architect, together with Jack Kirby and Stan Lee, of a universe of heroic characters that took Marvel Comics from an underdog New York publisher in the 1960s to the world-recognized brand of comic book superheroes and multi-million-dollar movies of today, Ditko co-created Spider-Man but walked away from the character he designed over 50 years ago, to never again return to the enduring superhero and retreating completely from the public eye thereafter. Seeking his own individualistic paths for creative and personal expression would lead to condemnation from some, restricted work opportunities from others and a reclusive life peppered with memories of interfering editors; original artwork that had been stolen from him and a life-long adherence to his Objectivist convictions. With the book sourcing a decade-long correspondence between Steve Ditko and its author David Currie, the history of the formative years of American comic books and the rise of Marvel Comics is revealed, illuminated further by interviews with many other comic book creators from all periods. It's an intrigue-filled story of heroes and villains, both fictional and real; visionary artists on zero-hour contracts and one man's artistically productive and diligently uncompromising life.

The comic book version of the 20th Century's most famous fictional magician sees print again in Hermes Press' deluxe version of King Features comics' Mandrake the Magician! Lee Falk's newspaper strip, Mandrake the Magician, offered readers, magic, occult and the fantastic and King Feature's comic book version, which saw print during the height of the Silver Age, was a worthy entry into the world of comic books. This first volume of the complete comic book run of Mandrake the Magician presents the first five comics in the series together with all of the back-up stories printed in King Features' Flash Gordon title. These stories feature artwork by such Silver Age luminaries as Don Heck, Werner Roth, and Andre LeBlanc with scripts by Dick Wood. Volume One also contains tons of extras including extensive essays on Lee Falk's Mandrake the Magician and the artists who created the comic book series. Also included (in addition to the comic book reprint of the story) is the complete original art to one of the back-up stories.

Back in the 1950s during the "Cold War" every new day beckoned the possibility of the end of the world. Kids grew up in the shadow of bomb shelters and were treated to daily lessons at school on what to do in the event of a nuclear attack. Americans were besieged by constant reminders to police our borders, to carefully watch out for "foreigners" who might be spies, and to be ever vigilant in preparing to combat the "red" menace of communism. Comic books of this era played on these fears with stories of atomic war and world war III. This new historic reprint looks back at those good ole days, which can be viewed in the perspective of today's political climate. This volume reprints the complete runs of Atomic War! and World War III and can be read merely as great action/adventure stories, classic "war" comics or as an eerie, unanticipated commentary on today's tribulations. SPECIAL NOTE: if these extremely rare books were purchased at your local comic shop they would cost well over $1000 in low grade condition!

In the early years of Witch Hunter's fight for humanity's right to survive the purge of The Scarlet Circle cult, his aim wasn't as true and his smirk wasn't as confident. It took bad mistakes and more than a little help from his friends for him to find his way. This is the story of how he got there. Taking place between Witch Hunter issues 1 and 2, this is Witch Hunter surviving The Crucible.

SERIES DEBUT FROM MONSTROUS BOOKS AND CRYSTAL LAKE COMICS! Black ops meets black magic in Joe Ledger & Violin: Hearts and Minds, written by New York Times Bestseller Jonathan Maberry (V-Wars, Black Panther). In this original graphic novel, Joe Ledger and Violin dive headfirst into a nightmare. Across the U.S., the young and innocent are turning up dead—drained of blood, their hearts and brains stolen. Each body bears strange markings from long-forgotten religions. This isn't just murder. It's ritual. With art by EV Cantada, colors by Zac Atkinson, and a cover by Colton Worley.

The Devil walks among us—and only one man can stop him.

Forty years ago, Satan was betrayed by his right-hand demon and cursed to live as an immortal human, doomed to wander the earth in secret. No one knows his face. No one knows his plan. But his revenge is coming.

This superhero's journey follows ordinary contractor Calvin 'Wes' Wesley as he finds himself called into the eternal battle between good and evil, becoming Alpha Red! Forty years ago, Satan was betrayed by his right-hand demon and cast into the body of a human, then cursed with immortality. The Devil has been walking the earth for four decades plotting his revenge, but no one knows who he is or what he looks like. Our hero gets a chip implanted in his brain that makes him super-strong, super-fast, and super-smart. Wes must find the Enemy and stop him from taking over the world.
